In Latin America and the Caribbean, Afro-descendant Peoples make up 21% of the region's population. Over centuries, they have forged pathways and developed practices rooted in ancestral knowledge. Their customary territories include tropical forests, wetlands, shrublands, and marine ecosystems which are now recognized as global biodiversity hotspots crucial for achieving the 2030 Agenda and SDGs. Yet, despite the crucial roles and contribution—only 8.1 million hectares has been officially recognized as owned by these communities in six countries.

Convened by the Coalition for the Environmental Territorial Rights of Afro-descendant Peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean in alliance with Rights and Resources Initiative (RRI), Proceso de Comunidades Negras (PCN), Coordinação Nacional de Articulação de Comunidades Negras Rurais Quilombolas (CONAQ), and the Vice-Presidency of Colombia, this event brings together Afro-descendant leaders, civil society organizations, NGOs, and government representatives to formulate actionable recommendations aimed at narrowing the intersectional inequality gap Afro-descendant Peoples experience and safeguarding their territorial rights and their representation rights as rightsholders in global decision-making spaces, such as the CBD and the UNFCCC.
OBJECTIVES

Gain recognition
Gain recognition of Afro-descendant Peoples in Latin America and the Caribbean as rightsholders with their own rights-based agendas, and attain representation rights (Voice and Vote) in the CBD and UNFCCC.

Take action
Secure commitments from donors, governments, and international agencies for concrete actions and increased funding to close the gap in the recognition and protection of Afro-descendant Peoples’ territorial rights.

Share
Make visible through data and storytelling the territoriality of Afro-descendant Peoples and the role they play in mitigating and adapting to climate change and protecting biodiversity in strategic ecosystems.
The event’s central theme is Afro-descendant Peoples’ territorial rights, divided into six sub-themes related to securing Afro-descendant Peoples’ land tenure rights as an effective pathway to conservation and climate change action.
CONVENERS

Coalition for the Environmental Territorial Rights of Afro-descendant Peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean

The International Coalition for the Defense, Conservation, Protection of Territories, Environment, Land Use, and Climate Change of Afro-descendant Peoples of Latin America and the Caribbean is formed by +25 Afro-descendant organizations in the region and was created, in alliance with RRI, to promote coordinated actions to strengthen the processes of defense of Afro-descendant territories and climate change in Latin America and the Caribbean.

Proceso de Comunidades Negras (PCN)

PCN is a Black association that connects grassroots organizations, community councils, and individuals working together to transform the political, social, economic, and territorial reality of Black communities and Afro-descendant Peoples in Colombia.

Coordinação Nacional de Articulação de Comunidades Negras Rurais Quilombolas (CONAQ)

CONAQ fights for the guarantee of collective use of the territory, for the implementation of sustainable development projects, for the realization of public policies taking into account the organization of quilombo communities; for quality education consistent with the way of life in quilombos; the protagonism and autonomy of quilombola women; for youth to remain in the quilombo and above all for the common use of the Territory, natural resources and harmony with the environment.

Rights and Resources Initiative (RRI)

RRI is a global coalition of 21 partners and more than 150 rightsholder organizations dedicated to advancing the land, forest, territory, and resource rights of Indigenous Peoples, Afro-descendant Peoples, local communities, and the women within these communities.

Vice-Presidency of Colombia

The Vice President of Colombia is the second-highest officer in the executive branch of the national government of Colombia. The Honorable Vice-President of Colombia, Francia Márquez, is the first Colombian Vice President of African heritage and the nation’s first Minister of Equality and Equity.
